

1 89 Search for people, places and things

Timeline Photos

Back to Album · Villalobos Rescue Center's Photos · Villalobos Rescue Center's Page

Previo

 Villalobos Rescue Center
 In regards to the meeting tonight in Westwego, LA, we will be there but some may be shocked to know that we are actually in support of what Councilman Green is proposing. Yes, there are a few changes and additions I'd like to see but if you really think about it, this will also protect the dogs! Hope to see some of you there tonight.
 Like · Comment · Share · May 13

Album: Timeline Photos
Shared with: Public

- Open Photo Viewer
- Download
- Report

2,498 people like this.

388 shares

Write a comment...

 Villalobos Rescue Center Here's the other option: AN ALL OUT BAN! And trust me this city could probably easily get it due to the horrible attack on Miss Henry a couple of months ago. So you'd better believe I will meet officials "half way" in order to keep my dogs. Pick and choose your battles people.
 Like · Reply · 250 · May 13 at 10:12am

1 89

Tammi Mcquown so if they are doing this for pits it should be for every dog out there not just one breed that messed up.
Like · Reply · 115 · May 13 at 10:06am

Hide 29 Replies

Villalobos Rescue Center Agreed and that's one of the things I'm going to propose
Like · 51 · May 13 at 10:14am

Tammi Mcquown that good cuz if i have to pay for my dogs then the next person should too
Like · 7 · May 13 at 10:17am

Robert Slack I agree as well that seems more like discrimination towards the breed
Like · 8 · May 13 at 10:18am

Tammi Mcquown yep
Like · 1 · May 13 at 10:19am

Stephanie Neimiller Actually most dog bites occur with smaller dogs... the pit bull bites are fewer and far between, but thanks to the media, get the most attention. People need to know the truth.
Like · 22 · May 13 at 10:31am

Villalobos Rescue Center Agree on all counts!
Like · 12 · May 13 at 10:31am

Villalobos Rescue Center I think the other issue is though Pit Bulls may have a lower bite ratio, they are stronger and the damage more severe. The case of Miss Henry, both of her arms had to be amputated and I believe she lost an ear/eye. Small dogs couldn't have done that, so I completely understand why they're trying to get a handle on this. But I will propose that it be for other dogs as well.
Like · 27 · May 13 at 10:35am

Melissa Opiel I agree to the all dog insurance! I think if it is just applied to pits, it gives another reason to those who don't understand pits to stand against them. ALL dogs should be accounted for.
Like · 8 · May 13 at 10:36am

Tammi Mcquown it might sound mean or wrong of me but what did miss henry do to the dog to make the dog do that there has to be a reason they are like kids they just dont attack for no reason
Like · 1 · May 13 at 10:38am

Stephanie Neimiller Working with rescues here in Atlanta -there are so many beautiful, sweet pities being PTS... only rescues can pull them due to the fear that they become abused or used as bait dogs... This breaks my heart and to think this all started because 20 or so years ago some idiot took americas family and military dog and decided to use and abuse for money and greed. It makes me sick. Anything you can do to set the example VRC... do it. You know better than anyone and are on the front lines every day. PS. Thanks for all you do.
Like · 9 · May 13 at 10:39am · Edited

Chat (Off)

1 89

keep my dog safe.

Like · 5 · May 13 at 10:43am

Michelle Duerre TOTALLY agree with Tia. These are BIG, powerful dogs. We as owners need to be extra vigilant, for our dogs safety as well as the public. Owning a pit is not a responsibility to take lightly. One county in WA State requires pits be registered and go through a yearly "temperment and socialization" class, which ensures owners are keeping and treating their dogs responsibly. We just have to keep fighting the good fight for the love of the breed.

Like · 15 · May 13 at 10:50am

Tammi Mcquown michelle i dis agree if one breed should pay all breed should pay

Like · 1 · May 13 at 11:06am

Lisa Palmer Hing This should be Nation wide!! If more humans were made to be accountable for their dogs no matter what breed, then maybe we would have less finger pointing at certain breeds! I am the momma of a beautiful American Bulldog/ Mastiff mix that came from a horrific situation. They would use an electric cattle prod on him to "try" and make him mean. This pooch has NOT one ounce of mean in him. In fact he will be starting training soon to become a therapy dog because he is THAT gentle!! Keep kicking ass Tia!!! You are awesome!!

Like · 7 · May 13 at 11:12am

Carla Benedict FWIW, you would be surprised at the damage a small dog can do. We had adopted a blind Scottie that had been abused. He bit me in the face 3 times, completely unprovoked. I nearly lost my nose and an eye. I agree that this is a fair measure if applied to everyone.

Like · 2 · May 13 at 11:50am

Cate McCombs Folks, at the moment it is what it is. And the harder you fight against showing responsibility and being able to gather stats and cases from the records of the responsible and insured/registered owners, the longer you will let the fools who pass the legislation keep at the fear factor. It's the same with many areas of life -- sometimes you have to work a little harder and be a little more vigilant to prove your point in the long run. The more openly responsible the breed owners are, the more it will shine the light on the irresponsible humans and NOT the breed itself. Be a step above the rest of the non-Pit owners and take the Pit rep right up there with you! Work it from within.

Like · May 13 at 12:32pm

Carol Wright I use to work for a vet. We had a German Shepard for several weeks for heart worm treatment. He was so sweet. The day he was going home we had just finished his bath. He heard his owner and attacked 3 of the clinic workers! not just pit bulls that attack, and this shepard was not provoked at all. Of course this type of attack doesn't make the media.

Like · 1 · May 13 at 12:39pm

Villalobos Rescue Center Tammi Mcquown Miss Henry did absolutely nothing wrong except walk into her

Chat (Off)

1 89

was carrying her little dog in her arms when my guess is that the 4 Pits got worked up and maybe went after her little dog and she got caught in the crossfire. These were dogs that were raised in the house not some chained up junkyard dogs.

Like · 4 · May 13 at 12:43pm

Muffy Sunde I do think it sets a bad precedent to target one dog or one breed, because if so, then why not Cocker Spaniels? And, it will lead to bigger deposits to rent, etc., etc., etc. more dogs pts in shelters cuz folks can't afford the insurance. And, standing on principle does mean something, and that is why Villalobos has the support it does, cuz you make principled stands. What about mandator spay/neuter for all, mandatory spay/neuter for all, outlawing chaining dogs outside. etc., etc. Then demand they be enforced. I don't know much about Louisiana, but doubt that if those laws are in force that they are seriously enforced. Is this rule going to be enforced in New Orleans? Would it extend to Villalobos? What is to protect a rescue from being bankrupted by this kind of thing?

Like · 1 · May 13 at 4:27pm

Maureen Miller its not always a fair thing but in the case of protecting the pitbulls... the concern is for the pitbulls...! we do what we have to, to protect them. this is the priority battle... take care of this first... worry about others at another time.

Like · May 13 at 4:56pm

Spirit Whitaker Miss Tia I have followed you, and your show for 2 seasons now and love you and what you do. I live in MT and while I do not own a pit my daughter does in TN. He is a wonderful dog. I write now though because in reading your comments above my respect for you has grown even more. Your concern has not only been in protecting pits but people. Your honesty and truthfulness on pits and that there can be dangers in the wrong hands but your care for Miss Henry and people in general is commending. If all pet owners not just those with pits were as caring and responsible as you we would have such a better world. God Bless

Like · 5 · May 13 at 5:46pm

Ann Cleroux All breed of dogs mess up but none worse than the human breed.

Like · 10 · May 13 at 7:02pm

Annette Rose now my question is... As I understand we want to make things fair... Why would u want to add more dogs to a restriction??? thats kinda like saying... Ok im caught... but a,b,c,d,and e also did this lets get them in trouble as well... I completely understand if its an option of no pitbulls or this... OBVIOUSLY we pick this... but why add more dogs to an already shity situation?

Like · 2 · May 14 at 2:17am

Mary Perry Are they also willing to make dog fighting and gambling on dog fighting a felony?

Like · 3 · May 15 at 1:09pm

Candice Lowery I do not think this should be supported at all. If they are requiring insurance they expensive for residents to own the breed. Mayor Johnny Shaddinger claims responsible owners will have no problems with the proposed ordinance and the new regulations.

Chat (Off)

1 89

Under the proposal, owners must "install" microchips in their dogs to "track them if they escape." Breeding pit bulls will be banned, and the dogs must be spayed or neutered. If not confined to backyards, the dogs must be muzzled and must be walked on leashes no longer than 4 feet. Licensing fees haven't been set, but the punishment for violating the ordinance could include up to six months in jail and a fine of up to $500."

<http://blessthebulls.wordpress.com/2013/04/11/westwego-la-proposes-new-pit-bull-restrictions/>

Westwego, LA proposes new pit bull restrictions

blessthebulls.wordpress.com

Officials in Westwego, Louisiana are amending the city's pit bull ordinance to m... See More

Like · 6 · May 15 at 9:43pm

Candice Lowery We need to propose better laws (or enforcement of existing laws) for all dog owners. For example leash laws, nontethering laws, mandatory insurance, permits to breed, etc... We also need harsher punishments for dog owners. An owner should be solely responsible for all costs associated with a dog bite (on human or animal). There should be harsher punishments for people that have had a dog that has attacked more than once, or has owned multiple dogs that have attacked. There should be harsher penalties for dog fighters/animal abusers as well.

Like · 1 · May 15 at 9:47pm

Vicky Carr Collins I've been a supporter for a long time. I've sent donations when I could. Supporting any type of BSL is a slippery slope and if it has the name of Villalobos as a supporter.....wow....I am really disappointed:(

Like · 5 · May 19 at 9:59am

Karen Delise Villalobos - Sorry, but truth is: You, nor I, really have any idea how these dogs were treated. All we know is that they were obviously being bred, and from the looks of the house, it is very tiny. There is nothing to indicate these dogs were "family" pets. Additionally, the only case of a dog bite related fatality in Westwego was by a long-haired dog. There was NO talk of BSL towards that "breed," and that involved a death. So why would you agree with BSL after this incident?

Like · 2 · May 19 at 11:22am · Edited

Teresa Mac I absolutely agree that the existing laws are not enforced. Spay/neuter and leash laws need to be aggressively enforced. As for the incident in Westwego, I do believe those dogs were used as money-makers and having that number of dogs and puppies in one house was an explosive situation. I've had larger dogs try to get at a small dog while I was holding it. If I hadn't made it obvious in the past that I was the BIG DOG, something

Chat (Off)

1 89

Like · May 20 at 8:54am

 Write a reply...

 Matt Elrod insurance is a minor thing to be able to keep your dog. If you have a car you are "forced" to have insurance, why not have it with all dogs/

Like · Reply · 45 · May 13 at 10:07am

 Villalobos Rescue Center replied · 18 Replies

 Kristie Wood If this is only for pit bulls then it's BSL. If you're supporting BSL in this instance you're paving the way for more. Bad idea.

Like · Reply · 39 · May 13 at 10:13am

 Villalobos Rescue Center I'm actually proposing it be done for other dogs as well

Like · 13 · May 13 at 10:16am

 Jerilyn Maruzzella Thats only fair. It should be for all dogs.

Like · 2 · May 13 at 10:21am

 Toni Ghi-Ramsey thats why we love you Tia

Like · 1 · May 13 at 10:23am

 Cindy Ruud IF it is for all dogs, the cost should drop as well.

Like · 1 · May 13 at 11:02am

 Leigh Layson If one breed has to have it, ALL breeds should have to have it. And that includes the cute little toy breeds.

Like · 11 · May 13 at 12:08pm

 Kristie Wood It should ESPECIALLY include the toy breeds.

Like · 1 · May 13 at 1:02pm

 Julia Martori I agree it should be done for dogs in general. How many children have had their faces torn off by chihuauas. Nonetheless, while we are fighting BSL, we have to do whatever it takes to protect our pits.

Like · 2 · May 13 at 1:19pm

 Amy Conrad if you are PROPOSING it for other dogs, why are you supporting it the way its written now, as your post stated? Badly worded post, you can't blame anyone for wondering and asking for clarification...

Like · 1 · May 20 at 5:31pm · Edited

 Write a reply...

 John Foster If its a bill to FORCE people to get insurance for pitbulls I'd be 100% against it

Like · Reply · 27 · May 13 at 10:04am via mobile

Hide 13 Replies

 Diane Grady Me too

Like · 1 · May 13 at 10:05am

Chat (Off)

1 89

Like · 6 · May 13 at 10:15am

Rochelle Shoaf Why just pitbulls? German sheppards bite...so do small dogs...so why are the pits being forced? and what if someone doesn't rent and they own their home...that says renters only? I am glad that PA does not ban pits or attempt to...in my neighborhood everyone here owns a pit...and our dogs are wonderful...no bites, no dog fights

Like · 7 · May 13 at 10:19am

Jeannette Perdue Kelly or they can be Colorado and will exterminate them..do your homework before u open ignorance

Like · May 13 at 10:27am

Jeannette Perdue Kelly I support

Like · May 13 at 10:28am

Stephanie Neimiller Actually most dog bites occur with smaller dogs... the pit bull bites are fewer and far between, but thanks to the media, get the most attention. People need to know the truth.

Like · 5 · May 13 at 10:33am

Jamie Mount Stephanie, that may or not be true, however the difference is the severity. My SON was bitten in the face by a terrier, he just wound up with a few stiches. If one of my bullies did that, they'd take off half his face.

Money for the insurance is worth keeping your pet, and having peace of mind.

Like · 5 · May 13 at 11:56am

Leigh Layson I have no problem with insurance to cover if your pet bites someone. But I don't think we should discriminate based on size. Small dogs can be even more territorial and aggressive than their larger cousins but they get a free pass because they aren't as scary.

Like · 11 · May 13 at 12:11pm

Dana Sparks I have little dogs and if some one come to harm me they would be hurt. People stop hating PIT BULLS!!!! they have just as much right to live. & to be loved !!!!!

Like · 1 · May 13 at 12:24pm

Kirstan Sanders Mandatory breed specific insurance is a defacto ban. You will either not be able to afford it or it will not be offered. Period. So, that leaves getting rid of your dogs. Why is this hard to see? Do NOT give in.

Like · 5 · May 13 at 2:05pm

Julie Busa Any way you look at it, ban or no ban, it's BSL and should be opposed. Not everyone can afford the insurance. So they require the insurance, a responsible owner with a dog that's had NO incidents can't afford the insurance so the dog is????

Like · 1 · May 19 at 1:44pm

Stephanie Stevie Ihmaid If Pitts need bite insurance then all dogs need it. Fact. Some dogs bite. They just do. My chi-weenie has never even snapped... but... if the

Chat (Off)

1 89

have effected everything. Thank you Tia. For trying to keep It fair.

Like · 1 · May 20 at 2:45am

Julie Gleason Priorities folks.....pride because some is making you do something or keeping your loyal dog?? NO choice.

Like · May 20 at 6:56am

Write a reply...

Matt Elrod John, what if the alternative is to ban Pit Bulls?

Like · Reply · 2 · May 13 at 10:07am

Villalobos Rescue Center replied · 7 Replies

Emily Austin If it forbids people from breeding I am all for it

Like · Reply · 38 · May 13 at 10:05am via mobile

Todd Mcgarvey And what happens if u can't afford it? You loose your dog? Your freedom? I usually agree with you but this is a terrible idea!! How does this protect the dog?

Like · Reply · 32 · May 13 at 10:06am via mobile

5 Replies

Rachele Ann You are either anti-BSL or not. Anti-BSL means ANTI BSL. You should not bend over to appease anyone. Anytime you accept a compromise in these issues, such as when Bad Rap co-authored AB 861 to allow breed-specific MSN, you continue to perpetuate the idea that Pit Bulls are so different from other breeds that they should be treated differently. I'm sad you are taking the easy way out.

Like · Reply · 28 · May 13 at 1:15pm

Rachele Ann *SB 861

Like · May 13 at 1:37pm

Miranda Burnett I had no idea that Bad Rap was involved in that. Wow. Thanks for posting this.

Like · 3 · May 13 at 9:20pm

Virginia Kelly Same here.

Like · May 19 at 4:54pm

Write a reply...

Michelle Pritchett Ban the people, not the breed

Like · Reply · 25 · May 13 at 10:04am

Charles Moore I would like to see Pomeranian or Chihuahua insurance since them lil suckers bite more people than pitbulls do. Just saying.

Like · Reply · 25 · May 13 at 10:17am via mobile

Harris Tammy I 2nd that i ve been bitten by those lil monster also min pins they r crazy too

Like · May 13 at 12:06pm

Cate McCombs LOL! I have a min-pin and yes, he can have an attitude and is often full-tilt bozo! The terriers of

Chat (Off)

1 89

Like · 1 · May 13 at 12:37pm

 Write a reply...

 Dawn Chako Capitulating to BSL isn't something I personally agree with. Breed specific insurance requirements usually end up being a defacto ban, for example.

Like · Reply · 25 · May 13 at 5:30pm

 Bill Van Orman I completely Disagree. If there is going to be insurance then it should be for all breeds. Pit Bull insurance openly and admittedly labels our dogs as dangerous and gives those who want to ban our breed evidence later down the line that our dogs cannot be trusted.

Like · Reply · 25 · May 13 at 10:12am

2 Replies

 Andrea Johnson Ridiculous and I cant believe Villalobos would support this. And my response to "what about an outright ban" is "whatever happened to outright fighting" this type of legislation?! C'mon people, you give an inch and they take a mile, you admit the APBT ... See More

Like · Reply · 23 · May 13 at 2:16pm

 Andrea Johnson Not to mention, the people that would actually buy the stupid insurance are likely owners who would never let their dogs be in a position to bite a person.

Like · 10 · May 13 at 4:52pm

 Karen Delise Collette, well said! I agree completely.

Like · May 19 at 11:07am

 Write a reply...

 Emily Sieger requiring an ADDITIONAL cost to own a dog (any dog) will result in more dogs being surrendered... and killed. $200 is nothing to sneeze at... and may be more than being struggling to keep their family and their pets together. This is a common consequence of such rule. Didn't VRC move to NoLA precisely to HELP the disadvantaged pet owners there? Now they support a policy that will HURT these people

Like · Reply · 21 · May 13 at 5:33pm

3 Replies

 Collette Solinger Davis Many people have fought, for many years, to end BSL, in all forms, including requiring special insurance. Ohio, up until last year, was the only state that had statewide BSL. We fought it. We won. Times are changing, and to see someone whom I once cons... See More

Like · Reply · 20 · May 13 at 6:22pm via mobile

 Deb Hodgson Berard Are you sure it's a 'small cost'? Most insurance companies will increase home insurance by $1700 or more for a Pit Bull type dog. (or any of the 10 dogs on their 'dangerous list'.

Like · Reply · 20 · May 13 at 10:05am

Chat (Off)

1 89

Toni Ghi-Ramsey Now if we can get Home owners Insurance Companies to accept the pit Bull breed at these costs it would be a win, win, situation.

Like · Reply · 18 · May 13 at 10:05am

8 Replies

Rachele Ann What's really disturbing is how many of these sheeple haven't yet understood that this image is an AD for Einhorn insurance. Tia is supporting mandatory insurance for Pit Bull owners because she thinks it's the only way to avoid a ban. The simple minde... See More

Like · Reply · 16 · May 13 at 7:19pm

4 Replies

Tammy Olson Don't agree. It's starting a bad precedence, strongly implying that pits are "bad" dogs needing insurance. And what about the many good owners who can't afford the insurance? Dogs will be confiscated and euthanized.

Like · Reply · 17 · May 13 at 10:30am

10 Replies

Melissa Opiel Hello, there, from TN. As many of you may know, Tennessee just tried to pass a bill to require insurance for our pit bulls here. What frightens me about this, is that if they pass a requirement for pit bull insurance, and THEN decide to pass the ban on... See More

Like · Reply · 16 · May 13 at 10:41am

Michelle Norah For those of you who think its ok "if the dog is a certain size" have you ever actually received a BITE? (As in not a nip, a bite that requires medical attention.)

I had a 35 pound dog (a rare breed spaniel) attempt to remove two fingers on my hand. ... See More

Like · Reply · 15 · May 14 at 10:28am via mobile

Tanya Thornton A cocker spaniel almost took my daughter's bottom lip off. It required 46 stitches from inside to the outside. It was an unprovoked attack on my baby. The police deemed the dog vicious and said she had to be put down or removed from city limits. I su... See More

Like · 1 · May 20 at 1:52am · Edited

Write a reply...

John Foster Tammi I agree 100% you all are looking at this the wrong way. The govt should not be a able to force you to purchase this for a specific breed. You will be opening a slippery slope for variances of BSL

Like · Reply · 15 · May 13 at 10:08am via mobile

2 Replies

Laura Eakes I would gladly pay $200 a year for my dog no matter the breed. Sorry folks a pet is a responsibility if you cannot afford what amounts to less than $20 a month then you

Chat (Off)

1 89

Like · Reply · 14 · May 13 at 10:12am

Nichole Mitchell $200 a year is nothing to allow your dog to live with you

Like · Reply · 14 · May 13 at 10:06am via mobile

3 Replies

Amanda Watkins This isn't pet insurance, folks. This is a liability insurance that singles out ONE breed. Rather than putting forward a NON-BREED SPECIFIC dangerous dog law, this is rolling over and submitting in a fight to PROTECT this breed. It is still BREE... See More

Like · Reply · 13 · May 13 at 7:17pm

4 Replies

Jenai Herod It should be mandatory that our pitties can be insured affordably ... especially since very rarely do these dogs bite a human they are specifically bred NOT to be human aggressive . Its only when irresponsible owners neglect or abuse them as is true for every breed treated poorly . And I like that they insist on not breeding them . We have too many being murdered daily now

Like · Reply · 11 · May 13 at 10:09am

Denise Walling Exactly and the politicians know this ,not sure why people are not seeing what really is going on here.

Like · May 13 at 11:38am

Write a reply...

Audie Chavira A responsible pit bull owner does not NEED insurance; an irresponsible pit bull owner WON'T insure their dog.

Like · Reply · 10 · May 13 at 2:20pm

Mohamed Younes I'm sorry Tia but your wrong on this. This should apply to breeds. This breed specific . So in fact it is BSL.

Like · Reply · 11 · May 13 at 1:22pm via mobile

Randy Perlman Pauley People get dogs cause they are cute not thinking of the cost. That's why there are problems. Hope it keeps the irresponsible a$holes from owning!!

Like · Reply · 11 · May 13 at 10:05am via mobile

2 Replies

John Richardson This doesn't protect anything but trial lawyers' cash flow. Bad move.

Like · Reply · 10 · May 13 at 7:35pm

Robin Hutton I work with rescue and I've seen more bites from chihuahuas then I've ever seen from any other dog. Btw, I have two chihuahuas and and a grand dog chihuahua and they are not biters because I raised them right. They are happy to see people. Pits always ... See More

Like · Reply · 10 · May 13 at 10:33am via mobile

Cate McCombs FWIW, I spent many (too many) years

Chat (Off)

1 89

right now PLUS (get... See More
Like · Reply · 10 · May 13 at 10:24am

Rachele Ann Our dogs deserve better than this. They deserve people who will FIGHT FIGHT FIGHT and not just give up or give in when they think the odds are stacked against them. This is sick and I'm sad that anyone is so blinded by fame (the only excuse I can think of) to support this in any way or be FOOLED into thinking it's actually helping.
Like · Reply · 8 · May 13 at 4:42pm

2 Replies

Tina Rutledge Any breed that's known to bite should have insurance..if you can't afford the fee you shouldn't have the dog..emergency vet visits cost more..
Like · Reply · 8 · May 13 at 10:14am via mobile

5 Replies

Emily Sieger very very bad. Capitulation NEVER wins in the end. It only allows the continued notion that pit bulls must be set apart. And once you go there, there is never an end. We are seeing RIGHT NOW a new effort in California to allow cities to ban pit bul... See More
Like · Reply · 8 · May 13 at 2:00pm

Michelle Norah There is NO compromise on this... It is a VERY VERY VERY easy gateway to complete BSL... Without ever calling it a breed ban.

What happens when the "state mandated" insurance is $250 per dog per month? $300? $500?

Who is going to dictate to the insurance companies the amount they charge for coverage?

Like · Reply · 8 · May 14 at 11:38am via mobile

Brian Felts I usually agree with you but this is bullshit. I love my pit bulls but ill be damned if I'm going to shell out an expense that other dog owners don't have too
Like · Reply · 8 · May 13 at 12:00pm via mobile

Permethious Thewolfdog I hate the fact that they are trying to impose another way to collect money from already struggling people. It's not the responsible ones who license, fix, socialize and keep the shots up to date on their dogs, who cause any of the problems. I think th... See More
Like · Reply · 8 · May 13 at 11:57am

Curtis Pollard Sr. How come we have to fight for a breed of dog instead of better owners? its like people are scared to take the battle to the owners! they sure as shit weren't afraid to take the fight to Mike Vick! hmmm!! seems fishy to me!! i live around fools who like... See More
Like · Reply · 8 · May 13 at 11:36am

Heather Adkins I shouldn't have to single out my pitt and not my ankle bitter who is 10 times more likely to bite you. Discrimination at it's best. My dogs are 10 and 11 and have never bit anyone.... however i have been bit by a poodle a cocker spaniel and a chiuau... See More biting someone because I think it should depend on why the dog bit someone, if was fearful for its life and scared then that shouldn't be held against them. I would bite the crap outta someone to if I thought they were trying to hurt me or take my life.

Chat (Off)

1 89

Like · Reply · 7 · May 13 at 10:17am via mobile

2 Replies

Troy Way This penalizes responsible owners and does nothing to irresponsible owners who will simply ignore it and keep on being the douchebags they always have been...

Like · Reply · 8 · May 13 at 10:15am

Cathy Chaney I don't understand people who complain they cannot afford it. Can you afford to care for your dog if they need to go to the vet? Can you afford to pay medical expenses if your dog bites someone? I think this is great. Keeps owners responsible.

The only thing I disagree with is it for pits only. Insurance is to protect your family. Not sure about you but my family is my kids AND my dogs.

Like · Reply · 8 · May 13 at 10:11am via mobile

7 Replies

Bethany Krylowicz I have insurance on my Pitt and Boston and its like 15.00 a mounth and ny homeowners doesn't charge me high because I have 2,dogs on the dangerous list because my dogs are insured

Like · Reply · 8 · May 13 at 10:10am via mobile

Amanda Olson I think we as pitbull owners have the right to choose. We got 3 pits 2 boxers and 2 wennies. Our wennies will bit if they dont know you. My pits will lick you to death. Its not right to put it on one breed....pits are good...so i vote NO.....

Like · Reply · 8 · May 13 at 10:09am via mobile

2 Replies

Tom Dibenedetto WOW never thought I'd hear Villaobos side with BSL!!! It is just wrong to accept any form of BSL. I would get insurance to keep my dog, but I SHOULD NOT HAVE TO MAKE THAT DESICION. I guess the insurance lobby is more powerful than the pet owners. I dont live in CA, but if this passes, I see it spreading.

Like · Reply · 7 · May 14 at 12:30pm

Lauri Ledford Number one I have to beautiful Pit Bulls. licenses and up to date shots..And can afford them and more if i chose!! Its not about the $$$$.It discriminates...could even call it racism of your choice if dog breed!!! Mine are social...people and child f... See More

Like · Reply · 7 · May 13 at 12:39pm via mobile

Kristy Potter Meyers Then all breeds should have to be insured! It's not just pit bulls that bite or attack! My daughter was bit by a chow when she was little and had to have 40 stitches in her head! And I've been bit by a couple chihuahuas in my day!

Like · Reply · 6 · May 13 at 10:54am via mobile

Chat (Off)

1 89

the dog(s) came with the snow, it was before they were added to the banned list.

Like · May 13 at 12:58pm

 Write a reply...

Pam Barnes I rescued a blue pit, he's such a baby. I have a son in wheel chair, he's extra gentle taking treats from him. He is great with our old chihuahua . And our younger boxer, but the older FM boxer is another story. Thy don't click, but its usually my boxe... See More

Like · Reply · 7 · May 13 at 10:49am

Rachel Costa This insurance will prevent owners from breeding pit bull. There is your law for the ones running loose. No more lives being brought into this world means more help for the ones already here

Like · 1 · May 13 at 11:08am

 Write a reply...

View more comments

50 of 408