PRESUMED DAM: On July 1 2014, there was a litter of 4 puppies at the Creamer/Snow household (referred to from this point forward as “CRSN”). The 14-month old fatally attacking pit bull-mix, named Bubba, was one of them. This brindle female pit bull pictured below, Lexi, is presumed to be the dam. Along with photos of this litter taken at that time and posted to Facebook, Lexi is seen in the yard on July 31, 2014.
PRESUMED DAM: Fast forward to September 30, 2015 -- two days after the mauling death of 2-year old Lamarkus Hicks -- CRSN surrendered Lexi and Bubba to animal control and the remaining puppies from a recent 2015 litter were given away. As of November 30, 2015, the female brindle pit bull named Lexi is still available for adoption at the Berkeley County pound. Bubba was euthanized on October 14, 2015 after the standard quarantine period.

NAME: Lexi
WEIGHT: 46lbs
AGE: 1 year / 3 year
BREED: American Pitbull
GENDER: Female - Unknown if spayed
INFORMATION: She has been here at our B.C.A.C since September 30, 2015. If you have children, or own any other dogs, we recommend you to bring them in for a "Meet and Greet". She also has not been cat tested. This beautiful girl is still looking for her forever, happy home!

©Facebook
SIRE PIT BULL-MIX: On October 1, 2013, CRSN posted that their male pit bull-mix named Bad Butts was 1-year old (technically near 1.5 years old). Note his facial white markings and mass at this age. His large size is where the “mix” comes in, likely a war dog descendant (mastiff-type), but certainly not a boxer. CRSN comment: “My Pitt one years old love Bad Butts so much”

©Facebook
SIRE PIT BULL-MIX: On October 27, 2013, during the same month, CRSN posted another photo of Bad Butts that better shows his size (relative to an adult human). The dog is about 1.5 years old in this photo. CRSN comment: “My beast.”
SIRE PIT BULL-MIX: On April 11, 2014 CRSN posted a photo of Bad Butts saying that the dog just turned 2-years old. CRSN comment: “he just turned 2 he is rotten.” Another commenter added, “Also he is huge!” Again, the mix here is certainly not boxer.
2014 LITTER: The 4-puppy litter was born on July 1, 2014 according to CRSN. This shows the puppies at 4-weeks old. Bubba, the fatal attacker, is in the front. No white markings on his face. The other light brown dog is a “replica” of its sire, Bad Butts. There were 3 males and 1 female in this litter; one of the brindles is the female.
2014 LITTER: About a week earlier, a CRSN relative comments about Bubba’s male littermate: “Looking like his daddy.” That would be the puppy’s near replica coloring and facial markings as its sire, Bad Butts (See page 3).
2014 LITTER: The male brindle puppy was given to a CRSN relative in late August 2014. In a comment, a family member makes clear who the sire is. CRSN comment: “Lol I bet he is look at this father bad butt.” Bad Butts sired the July 2014 litter containing the pit bull-mix named Bubba. The brindle dam, Lexi, seems to have been the only female in the home at the time and half the litter was brindle. This August 2014 post is the last mention of Bad Butts we could find in CRSN Facebook pages. Lamarkus’ family members said Bad Butts had been gone for some time before the fatal attack.
2014 LITTER: The fatally attacking male pit bull-mix, Bubba, at 3-months old, posted on September 29, 2014. CRSN comment: “he is rotten -- big boy almost 12 weeks”
2014 LITTER: The fatal attacker, Bubba, at 4-months old, posted on November 2, 2014. This is the last known Facebook image of Bubba before the police photos were taken on September 28, 2015 after the boy’s death. On that day, Bubba was 14-months old (just shy of 15-months). This same age was also given by the dog’s owner.
Additional Information:
6-weeks after the death of Lamarkus (November 11, 2015), CRSN household posted a photo of Bubba’s littermate at 6-months old -- the replica of its sire Bad Butts. Of the 4 puppies born in July 2014, it appears only one was sold/given away, the male brindle. CRSN kept the remaining three “in some fashion,” including the killer, Bubba.

Of the many Facebook photos during August 2014, when CRSN was trying to sell the puppies, a deal was made, but the intended buyer(s) later reneged.
Screenshots taken from September 28 to 30 showing a member of CRSN household declaring the dog a pit bull. Images were captured by Lamarkus’ family members. DogsBite.org added red rectangles.
Screenshots captured by DogsBite.org from September 29 to 30 from two different threads showing two people who knew both families involved, and are sympathetic to pit bulls, saying the attacking dog is a pit bull. A third person also chimes in saying, “I know the family and it was a pit bull dog.”

The Journal - September 29, 2015

- Brandon Michael: I know the breed of the dog as well as owners very well but it shouldn’t matter what the breed ... Any animal whether man’s best friend or not can be hostile at any time. Judging a breed of dog because of an attack is over rated!!
  - Like · Reply · 95 · Yesterday at 12:12pm

- Brandon Michael: Just because it was a pit it means nothing... A dog has ALL dog instincts regardless of breed and I personally know the owners dogs and they ARE FRIENDLY AND OVERLY EXCITED... As I said before it’s a tragic devastating loss for BOTH PARTIES!!
  - Like · Reply · 14 · Yesterday at 12:22pm

- Felicia Sister: People have to judge. It’s just people being very very uneducated
  - Like · Reply · 1 · Yesterday at 12:32pm

- Monica Cogle: I was bitten in the face by a chihuahua when I was a kid, because I was in his face, I have three pits, and all are cuddle bugs. One was in training and small child was there. We had to teach him how to properly pet and interact with our dog, becaus... See More
  - Like · Reply · 6 · Yesterday at 12:47pm

- Chelsea Marie Lambert: Amen I am friends with the family as well they are my mother’s neighbor and my heart is breaking for them
  - Like · Reply · Yesterday at 2:08pm

- Chelsea Marie Lambert: My mother lives between the two houses and all that man owns is pitbulls
  - Like · Reply · Yesterday at 4:21pm

- Hope Donivan: I know the family and it was a pit bull dog
  - Like · Reply · 5 · Yesterday at 12:19pm

The Herald-Mail - September 29, 2015

- Chelsea Marie Lambert: It was a pit bull my mother’s house is in between the house where the babys grandparents live and the yard where the dog was.... The man only has pitbulls and isn’t supposed to have any dogs at all
  - Like · Reply · 1 · 4 hrs

- Chelsea Marie Lambert: No not a 6 year old how about my mother my stepfather the man who owns the dogs gf or how about the grandfather who did CPR to save his dying grandsons life
  - Like · Reply · 3 hrs

- Chelsea Marie Lambert: And also I said my sister saw her best friend die because he basically passed on my mother front walkway
  - Like · Reply · 3 hrs

- Chelsea Marie Lambert: Angie Rhodes it was a pitbull they did CPR on the boy on my mother’s walkway the neighbor only has pitbulls
  - Like · Reply · 3 hrs

NOTE:

Even if Bubba was acquired by the household under different circumstances than presented in this lineage PDF, nothing changes the reality of the sheriff’s office photos, which show at the “very least” this dog is a pit bull-mix.